Two Projects In Venice Budget

$486,994 Appropriation Lists Garage, Library Addition, $35 Raises

Inflated by two construction projects — a new city garage and an addition to the library — a $486,994 budget for 1962-63 was placed on first reading by the Venice city council during a special session Friday night.

The appropriation, which also includes $35 monthly pay raises for city employees, is to be considered for adoption at a regular meeting next Friday evening. The budget shows a $121,198 increase over the $365,796 appropriation of 1961-62 when income reached $365,908. The expenditures totaled $322,289.

City officials pointed out that city property taxes will not bear the full brunt of the new budget.

Budget Review Fund

All of the funds to be spent on the $38,348 library addition this year in the 300 block of Broadway are already spent. The new construction scheduled, Earl Blaumkotz, city building director, reported today.

Of permits issued during the past year, 11 were for new building, 10 for improvements projects totaling $394, these were for garages or carports totaling $300,000, and one for a commercial building, $30,000.

The commercial permit is for a $2000 remodeling project at the Farm Fresh Dairy store, 2325 Main street. Other permit applications, 26 of 1100, involved passes in Stanley and madulski, 24, of 2616 West Avenue, and a man suffered injuries, as did Norris.

Norris, who was making a left turn in front of the other auto, arrested the car to yield the right-of-way and driving with an expired license. Both cars were to be air-conditioned.

Re-opening of the business office will permit full use of the present office by the advertising department which now shares that space. The newsroom will remain open, and the new pressroom capacity of the present 1250 square feet will be tripled.

On the second floor, reached by an elevator, will be offices as well as rooms for staff conferences and committee meetings.

Kitchen facilities are also planned, and both floors are to be air-conditioned.

Fourth Expansion

Since embarking on its long-range, planned expansion program, the Press-Record has made a complete cycle of all departments. Composing room facilities have been modernized for efficiency and comfort, new equipment added and more space provided.

Press-Record To Expand, Build 2-Story Addition

Announcement was made today by C. E. Townsend, editor and publisher of the newspaper, and an expansion and remodeling project at the newspaper. Work is expected to start in a week or two, with completion scheduled for next March 1.

This year's tentative budget includes $100,000 for expansion. If no more severe weather occurs, paring spending may enable the city to halt the newly-resumed practice of borrowing to meet the payroll.

The completed appropriation still subject to change, is not expected to result in much, if any, net reduction. Last year's $1,956,681 expenditures rose to that level mainly due to $48,848 a year maintenance bills paid partly from reserve funds.

This year's tentative budget includes $100,000 for expansion.

If no more severe weather occurs, paring spending may enable the city to halt the newly-resumed practice of borrowing to meet the payroll.

The major part of the present budget is for new buildings, including enlargement of the composing room, and improvements to the news and advertising departments.

The first floor will contain the business office, including mechanized advertising equipment, and also additional space for the pressroom, located behind it. The extra pressroom area will permit increasing capacity of the present 1250 square feet.

On the second floor, reached by an elevator, will be offices as well as rooms for staff conferences and committee meetings. Kitchen facilities are also planned, and both floors are to be air-conditioned.

Family Services Provided By Local Catholic Charities

Providing family and children's services to those who need them is the job of Quad-Cities Catholic Charities case workers. The agency is affiliated with the local United Way.

One major area of work is child welfare. Not only is the agency the only one in the area licensed to carry on adoption procedures, but it also provides funds available for residential mortgages, Cochran pointed out.

Another factor which should contribute to increasing residential activity is the ample supply of funds available for residential mortgages, Cochran pointed out.

The 22 Realtors in the Quad-City area through their membership in the local board and CAREER are available to answer the increasing demand for homes, he said. "They are well informed about the latest national and local trends in real estate and are pledged to abide by the established code of ethics."

Born in Hardin, Ill., he had resided at Bismarck for 17 years and previously in St. Louis for 42 years. He was a retired J. C. Penney warehouseman. He belonged to Bismarck First Baptist Church. He was a veteran of World War II.

In addition to his sister, Mrs. John (Edna) Jackson, 216 Madison Avenue, Granite City, he is survived by a son, Paul Neal Williams, Bismarckton, Ind., and his wife, Shirley. His wife, Myrtle, died in 1924. Services were conducted Sunday at a Granite City funeral home, with burial in Calhoun County. Further information is given in the obituary column.

In one particular case, the staff is counseling with the father of three children. He wishes temporarily to place one child, discipline him at home. The mother has been a mental institution for four years and another child is retarded.

It would be best, the staff feels, but this cannot be done until adequate care for the retarded boy is assured. He has two other care for him. He is in a state school for retarded children in correctional institutions when necessary.

Child welfare caseworkers in 1961 included 86 cases carried over from 1960; 37 new ones; nine reopened, and 51 closed, with 81 carried over to 1962.

Non-Sectarian Aid

All agency aid, with the exception of adoption procedures, is non-sectarian. About 60 per cent of incident aid is to non-Catholics.

"Incidental service" is its relief work. Involved is assistance until an individual can qualify for government aid. This may include food, clothing, and occasionally rent or power expenses.

Forty cases of this nature were carried forward to 1961, and when they were opened, 262 cases were carried forward to 1962.

Agency Staff

Closely related is the agency's family counseling service. Aid to families may include non-marital and marital counseling, advice, referral in cases beyond the agency's scope, and advice and aid for unwed mothers.

Caseworkers carried forward 26 cases of this type from 1960.

Case 30 closed 46 others and carried 50 forward to 1962. Often, counseling lasts for several years. Families sometimes return with new problems when old ones have been settled.

Theft, Robbery Cases To Be Tried

Three Quad-City area men involved in incidents by grand jury and were arraigned Friday afternoon in Madison county circuit court before Judge James O. Monroe Jr. They will be tried in September with the next criminal jury setting. All pleaded innocent.

Robert Earl Mansfield, 20, of 2828 Prairie avenue was charged with robbery for burglary. It is alleged that he entered a building of Joe Melchel of Madison and stole a watch and $1.50 in cash on May 28.

A. Burt, 21, of 805 Jackson street, West Madison, and Freddie Barnes, 22, of 1112 Market street, Venice, were arraigned on armed robbery charges.

It is alleged that they were among a group of five youths robbing Pvt. John Jackson, 20, a Granite City Engineered Depot soldier, on May 29. Jackson claims he met the group at a tavern and left with them about 6 a.m. They took him to a lonely road and threatened him with a shotgun, pistol and knife, he said, and made him hand over his money.

Two others accused of being in the group are free on $5000 property bond, each, and are Presumed, Aug. 18, of 46 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, and Ronald A. Brown, 20, of 903 Bissell street, Venice. The fifth youth still is being held on a $5000 public defense bond. W. M. named defense counsel for Mansfield, Burt and Barnes.

Electrical Workers Seek Strike Approval

Electrical Workers Locals 702 and 309, representing Illinois Power Co. employees here and in the Sparta area, are seeking strike authorization to start today of a strike approved Friday.

An IBEW spokesman said no strike date has been set and a date is not expected before a July 24 negotiating session to be attended by representatives of the utility company and a federal mediator.

Local 309 represents about 130 Illinois Power employees who work at the local power service area. The area includes the Quad-Cities, Edwardsville, Collinsville and Wood River. Local 702, whose headquarters are in West Frankfort, represents the Sparta area workers.

A statement issued by the company called the strike vote a "natural outgrowth of the contract which calls for arbitration of all differences."

Carl Mathias, local area manager, said the firm's job contract, Local 309, Locals 702 and 703, expired July 1. He said negotiations traditionally go well beyond the expiration date, which is now.

The locals represent linemen, meter readers, tree trimmers and substation employees.

Local School Treasurers Get $171,669 From State

Final state aid payments have been made to Madison county school treasurers and the County School Supt. Wilbur R. L. Trimpe noted Friday that he is making the first payments to new trustees appointed by boards of education rather than to the township treasurers.

Area A payments are Granite City, $30,000; Alton, $38,985; and Venice $2932, the last of six installments based on claims made last October.

Industrial Schedule

YMCIA Industrial School is holding a meeting with contractors Wednesday night at Lee Park in Venice. Dow Metal is scheduled against Air Products at 6:30 with Modern Furnace to meet Union Electric in the follow-up contest at 8 o'clock.

Wind, Current Can Help Maneuver Boat

(Eight of a series) Just about anyone can drive a boat in open water. Hit the gas, sit back and go — that's about all there is to it.

But novice boatmen, and even experienced skippers, for that matter, sometimes find it a little more difficult to locate a boat in tight quarters, such as when docking.

The secret of this is learning to read the signs of the prevailing wind and current. If possible, a boat approaching a pier should always be headed into the wind or current, which is stronger. This will act as a pivot, so the boat can float free.

In tidal waters, allow extra time to overcome the rise and fall of the tide.

Easier to Leave In Water Although many outboard skippers leave their boats for shore, it is a good idea to anchor in a few feet of water.

This will prevent damage to the hull and keep the propeller from getting stuck underwater obstructions.

Besides that, it is far easier to pull in an anchor than to get a boat back into the water after the stern will slowly and away if the pier has been "planted" ashore by the action of the waves.

The meat, of course, is the heavy one to eat or prepare. It's sure to hit the spot with most everyone, and can be altered for the sake of variety, simply by changing the appetizer, the dip, the salad dressing and the choice of beverages.

Auto Safety Belts Due For Widespread Use

An example being set by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. can be followed by local residents this summer and fall, when new autos will include attachments for seat belts. The company is starting belt installations in all its vehicles and also will aid telephone employees in obtaining the safety devices for their personal cars.

The fact that safety belts bring a marked decrease in fatalities and in the severity of injuries speaks for itself. Now that auto manufacturers plan to make them easy and economical to install, there is no reason why they should not go into widespread use.

Good intentions are only a start in the right direction—they must be carried out by those who are expected to go the whole distance.

OPPOSES ADVANCE RESERVATIONS FOR SHELTERS IN PARK

To the Editor:

I agree that the 4th of July celebration was a success, except for one thing. I thought the picnic shelters were reserved for anyone who was lucky to get there first.

We were at the park about 3 a.m. and made sure we had tables and a shelter for our surprise family picnic. To our surprise, every shelter had a reservation sign on it.

How can any park employee have the authority to reserve these shelters days in advance, unless it is for a school or church group?

We pay taxes, including park tax, the same as every one does or should. Why should we have to pay the privilege of using them if they are there first?

We were not the only ones who commented this. I heard many comments.

I say, first there, to get a choice place, especially when you get there before some people and out of bed.

Electrical Workers Seek Strike Approval

Electrical Workers Locals 702 and 309, representing Illinois Power Co. employees here and in the Sparta area, are seeking international headquarters approval at today's strike approved Friday.

An IBEW spokesman said no strike date has been set, but a strike is not expected before a July 24 negotiating session to be attended by representatives of the power company and a federal mediator.

Local 309 represents about 130 Illinois Power employees who work in the Granite City service area. The area includes the Quad-Cities, Edwardsville, Collinsville and Wood River. Local 702, with headquarters in West Franklin, represents the Sparta area workers.

A statement issued by the company said the strike vote is "a direct violation of the contract which calls for arbitration of all differences."

Carl Mathias, local area manager, said the joint contract with Locals 309 and 702 expired July 1. He said negotiations traditionally go well beyond the expiration dates, which were not the case this time.

The locals represent linemen, meter readers, tree trimmers, meter and sub-station employees,

Wind, Current Can Help Maneuver Boat

(Eight of a series)

Just as a man can drive a boat in open water, hit the gas, sit back and steer — that's about all there is to it.

But novice skippers, for the matter, sometimes find it a little more difficult to jockey their boat in tight quarters, such as when docking.

That's where this is learning to take advantage of the prevailing wind and current.

If possible, a boat approaching a pier should always be headed into the wind or current, which makes it stronger. This will act as a rudder and give the driver more control.

It is a good idea to leave some slack in the lines when tying up to a pier so the boat can float freely.

In tidal waters, allow extra time to overcome the rise and fall of the tide.

Eastern To Lay In Water. — To prevent outboard skipper beach their boats for short periods, it is a better idea to anchor in a few feet of water.

This will prevent damage to the boat and turn the propeller from striking underwater obstructions.

Besides that, it is far easier to get in an anchor than to get a boat out again. After all, after the anchor has been "planted" ashore by the action of the waves.

State Legislators Should Trim Fat From General State Spending

Now that Gov. Kerner has called a special legislative session and has stopped trying to obtain a 10 cent cut in public aid relief checks, it would be a good time to redouble state and local efforts to trim out waste and inefficiency. The less the financial problem becomes, the fewer remedial steps will be needed.

An example of the topics that state legislators may wish to review in November is the state fair, which had an $850,000 operating deficit last year. Even if the annual 10-day exposition cannot be put on "a pay as you go" basis, surely the extent of the financial loss can be curbed.

Addition of investigative personnel to seek out and remove fraudulent public aid claims appears to be a sound move; we hope the savings they bring offset their salaries. Also in order is the plan to avoid state payment of unusually high rental costs, such as have been detected in the Chicago area.

This point should be kept in mind when the special session is convened at Springfield: A good case can always be made for greater spending, but this does not automatically mean that taxes should be increased accordingly. The proper approach is to build state revenue to a reasonable level and then use the available funds in the most effective manner.

It may be a little old-fashioned these days but we've never heard of a formula—for individual or government—that beats living within income. It saves a lot of worry, embarrassment and hardship.

Auto Safety Belts Due For Widespread Use

An example being set by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. can be followed by local residents this summer and fall, when new autos will include attachments for seat belts. The company is starting belt installations in all its vehicles and also will aid telephone employees in obtaining the safety devices for their personal cars.

The fact that safety belts bring a marked decrease in fatalities and in the severity of injuries speaks for itself. Now that auto manufacturers plan to make them easy and economical to install, there is no reason why they should not go into widespread use.

Good intentions are only a start in the right direction—they must be carried out if they are expected to go the whole distance.

The fact that safety belts bring a marked decrease in fatalities and in the severity of injuries speaks for itself. Now that auto manufacturers plan to make them easy and economical to install, there is no reason why they should not go into widespread use.

We were at the park about 8 a.m. to make sure we would have tables and a shelter for our family picnic. To our surprise, every table had a reservation on it.

How can any park employee have the authority to reserve these sheltered days in advance, unless it is for a school or church affair?

We pay taxes, including park tax, the same as every one does or has the right to do. We should have the privilege of sheltering if we are there first.

We were not the only ones who realized this. I heard many comments against it.

I say: first, first; first to get a choice place, especially when you get there before some one else does.

MRS. MONA WILKINSON

teaspoon of horseradish to each cup (8 oz. of tomato juice, and salt to taste).

To purify flavor, sparkle and taste, add again, all you need to do is add a tablespoon of horseradish to your favorite spiced or flavored salt.

Now spread, and leave on the steak till you turn. Then let the sauce fall when turned. Spread lightly on the second side and turn once more before serving.

This recipe is enough for two pounds of steak. Increase to suit your taste on future efforts.

The fellow who learns to understand himself finds it much easier to understand others.

Now for the meat.

Whether cooking loin, round, chuck, T-bone, or any standard cut steak, simply place on the grill and then spread with this sauce:

Three tablespoons salad oil; three tablespoons horseradish; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon of your favorite spiced or flavored salt.

Now spread, and leave on the steak till you turn. Then let the sauce fall when turned. Spread lightly on the second side and turn once more before serving.

To the Editor:

Congratulations, Mayor Davis. You are continuing your domination of the people of Granite City. Now the people of Granite City were not the only ones who were out of work. I hope you are real happy with yourself.

As a taxpayer I have certainly been disappointed at the way the administration has handled the tax dollars. I can remember how the consolidation of Nameok and Granite City was railroaded in before objections could be made known, the goldplated severance in the Nameok area, the padded fire stations, the incident of our mayor trying to get rid

Circuit Clerk Seeking To Cut Average Trial Delay

The attempt to reach an average of eight months between filing and trying of circuit court cases is not only a praiseworthy plan but is vital if justice is to be done. Trials might appear on the calendar at long periods of time, it compares with an average of 15 months in St. Clair county, and several years in some places.

Developed by Circuit Clerk Portell, the accelerated disposition of cases includes services by at least one judge at all times during the summer months.

Since major cases obviously would take longer to prepare than traffic conviction appeals, the eight-month average which is being sought may well speed up the handling of such appeals which currently are permitting dangerous drivers to remain behind the wheel on local streets and highways.

In general, it can be said that justice delayed is not justice. The passage of time, death of witnesses and other factors weaken cases and often alter the entire circumstances surrounding lawsuits.

Proposal For Interstate Route 66 Merits Study

INTERSTATE ROUTE 66?

A proposal for this designation originated in Springfield, Mo., and has received the support of the Springfield, Ill., city council. The suggestion has merit if it does not cause added confusion in all route markings devised by the federal highway administration.

As pointed out in the Springfield, Mo., News Leader, "Inception of the Interstate plan of high-speed expressways, to serve an added need of defense in time of war, condemned U. S. 66 to a slow but eventual death. By 1972, it is decreed, this road from Chicago will become Interstate 55 as far as St. Louis, where it becomes I-44 to Oklahoma, I-44 to Barstow, Calif., I-15 for a few miles on San Bernardino and, finally, I-10 for the final stretch to a terminus at Santa Monica, within sight of the Pacific."

In support of its stand, the newspaper notes that Highway 66 "is the one federally-numbered highway that is, instantly recognizable—the Main street of America. The Interstate system is doing everything its designers dreamed it would do. Ten years ago, when the first section of the highway was scheduled for completion, remnants of the old federal and state highways will appear antiquated indeed. But is progress worth the price of abandoning such a romantically familiar and well-known name as U. S. 66, and is it even necessary?"

If 66, which has been immortalized in song, is to be used in the new numbering program, it should be done in a way to avoid waste of funds on highway markers. Perhaps if federal officials foresee any obstacles to the plan, they should be resolved if brought out at this time.

Guide To Long Life

Careful Driving

"That the days may be long" is about the shortest and simplest reason heard lately for careful driving. The National District Attorneys Association is credited with using the phrase in formulating the "10 commandments for traffic safety," which are particularly appropriate during the vacation travel.

The "Decalogue for drivers" ends with, "Honour traffic laws that the days may be long." It specifies that "thou shalt not murder by motor, mix alcohol with gasoline, exceed the speed limit, follow too closely, weave from lane to lane, fail to signal or lose thy temper." It admonishes that "thou shalt be courteous to thy fellow motorist" and "favor the pedestrian and bicyclist."

The petitions supporting us in trying to get the mayor and two aldermen of the city to rescind their action of May 14 to close the station department as it was prior to that date.

We especially want to thank the street superintendent, the people elected, and now taking out dollar out of city and state and depriving 19 men of their jobs.

Now we are facing the severest budget. Whether or not it is good for our city, I, along with others, do not know. I have talked to about it, do not feel I could vote for anything that this administration is recommending.

I am a good citizen, having been a member of the station department for 20 years. I am encouraging remarks and contributions for our cause.
